OUT-DOOR AND IN-DOOR SPORTS. BASE-BALL

THE RED-STOCKINGS TO BECOME AN AMATEUR CLUB. The best friends of the national game will read with pleasure the following from The Cincinnati

Enquirer of Nov. 18:

We learn with some surprise of a growing feeling in the Cincinnati Base-Ball Club favorable to the abandonment of the system of playing paid players, and of cutering the season of 1871 with a strictly amateur nine. Several causes have conduced to this result, the first and principal of which is the fact that it has been demonstrated, after a full and fair trial, that a club playing a professional nine can not be made self-supporting, and that its treasury must be annually replenished by private and special contributions of members.

Then, too, there is a strong minority in the Gub which believes that the original purpose and true interests of the national game would be better served by the playing of an amateur nine, which could be so organized that they would compare favorably with the Stars of Brooklyn, the Harvards, and other famous gentlemen players. This object once accomplished, the game, it is argued, would at once resume its old tone, and become an amusement that would be eagerly sought and indersed by all classes of the community.

The game is no longer new in the West, and there is little doubt that nine volunteer players could be had here who would overmaster most of the professionals, even, who are becoming unmanageable, and many of whom are putting a prohibitory tariff upon their services. This rumor will be of interest to clubs abroad who are seeking players.

In this connection, it has been suggested that the Clubengage a nine of strictly Western players. There is talent enough in the West, if properly collected and managed, to dety all Eastern combinations, whether hailing from New-York, or New-York's Colony on the Lake.

This is but the beginning of the end of professional

This is but the beginning of the end of professional ball-playing, as it has been practiced of late years. Ultimately this class will come under the absolute control of THE MUTUAL CLUB IN ALABAMA.

On Thursday and Friday last a grand baseball tournament was to have been held in Montgomery, Alabama, in which, according to an extensive advertisement in The Alabama State Journal, the Mutual Club of ment in The Atlasting State Journal, the attendance this city were to enter the lists against the Bonule Bluchland and the Montgomery County Club of Alabama, and the Lone Stars of New-Orleans, for prizes amounting $1,000. The admission fee was to be 50 cents. Nothing has yet been heard as to the result of their playing.

The following are among a series of interesting contests to be commenced this week at the International Rooms; Capt. Mackenzle, the present champion player, vs. B. Rice, Dr. Barnet vs. N. Marache, Merian vs. Mackenzle, Perrin vs. Gilberg.

There are now no less than six localities in this city especially devoted to chess, including the room of the New-York Chess Club and the noted Café Interns tional. In Brooklyn there are two chess clubs, another is organizing to meet at the Assembly House in Washington-st.

At the rooms of the Paterson Chess Club. o-morrow, there will be a gathering of the chess-players of Paterson and adjoining towns, the occasion being the inaugural night of the club tournament for 1870 and '7L. Several noted players from New-York and Brooklyn are likely to be present. There is considerable stir in the metropolitan chess world in regard to the effort to inaugurate a Chess Congress in this city next year similar to the gathering of experts which brought Morphy and Paulsen into no toriety. There is but little doubt of the ultimate success of the movement, as the right parties are beginning to Tenth-st., near Second-ave., was last evening arrested and locked up in the Fifty-ninth-st. Police Station, on a charge of stealing, in May last, from the dwelling of Wm. L. Peck, No. 714 Lexington-ave., $1,100 worth of clothing, and other property. The father of young Kelly, who lives at No. 712 Lexington-ave., is new under $2,000 ball to answer the same charge, a considerable quantity of the property having been found in his residence. The police believe that the father, who is a wealthy contractor, and that the son, who has a bad reputation, is the real culipit.

WOMEN'S WORK IN THE WEST.

Malli W. Le Maich, an enterprising Western dame, imbued with the true instinct of that progressive country, writes a refreshing letter to The Iowa State Register, detailing her success in a new experiment of womanly effort. Finding, a year or two ago, that under the Homestead law, passed in 1862, women had the right to "claim" in the same manner as men, she resolutely struck out into the wilderness and staked off a claim "to hold, occupy and possess," in her own individual right and name. The "claim" was in the wild Cherokee section of Iowa. Possessing herself of the habiliaments of frontier life, and the utensils of the agriculturist, she set sturdily to work, and soon had her barren acres rich with bending grain. At intervals she worked on a backwood's mansion, and in time erected a modest house. By industry and laborious perseverance the energetic pioneer reached comparative success and prosperity in her laudable enterprise, and now she writes to whom it may concern, to come out and follow her example. Dating her letter from "Zephyr Home," she writes a half column or more, descriptive of her home and surroundings, and in conclusion, addressing herself to women, says:

"Obtain the name of some honest agent, and through him procure your lands, or, send one of your number to personally select them. Move on to them at the proper time, providing yourselves with team-force, and such agricultural implements necessary to begin with." the Homestead law, passed in 1862, women had the right

IRON RIVER STEAMERS AT THE WEST. Cincinnati has just inaugurated a new style of steamer for the navigation of Western and inland rivers. The boat is built of iron-180 feet long, 42 wide, and 6; feet deep in the hull. She is encased in an iron shell, varying three-eighths to five-eighths in thickness, shell, varying three-eighths to five-eighths in thickness, and is very much stronger than a wooden vessel. The vessel is divided into eight water-light compartments, and is simost proof against sinking. Should one or more of her sections be pieced she would not be in danger of lost by drowning, and fire is out of the question the whole hulk being iron. The vessel is in fact a model of her kind, and is attracting earnest attention from those interested in the inland marine. It is predicted that New-Orleans will build a whole fleet of them.

ALABAMA STATE INDORSED BONDS,

Ald in Railway Construction. Bearing Eight Per Cent Gold Interest. FOR SALE AT 95 AND ACCRUED INTEREST IN CURRENCY. FOR SALE AT 95 AND ACCRUED INTEREST IN CURRENCY. The indebtedness of the State of Alabama, arclusive of its Trust Pande for Educational Purposes, amounted on the lat of November, 1869, to 45,580,000, while the State variation available for taxation was in excess of $500,000,000, and the population numbered 1,200,000. This record is not surpassed by that of any State in the Union.

The Bonds usumed above are secarcial, however, not only by the obligation of the State, indersed upon them, but also by a First Morigage on completed railway lines, the present carmings of which, and the prayecte of future employment, would be sufficient in themselves to have the value of the obligations, without the additional recently afforded by the blate credit.
